FROM DEAN MATASAR

How is this possible? Wasn't it only yesterday that the summer had begun? Flowers in bloom. Birds singing softly in the distance. Soft jazz playing in the background. Snap out of it; summer, such as it was, is over.

Despair not, colleagues young and old. Summer wasn't so hot (I love double meanings!) anyway. Flowers wilt, bird singing can be annoying (or unsanitary), and if I hear any more new age music I'll go into terminal mellowness. The time has come for excitement, the special kind that comes through challenging oneself to learn and grow. Yes, you've got it right--the new school year has begun.

What a year it will be: our first full year in the new law school building; a chance to meet excellent new teachers and students; an opportunity to become reacquainted with old teachers and classmates; the formal dedication of the new law building; and the continued dedication of the law school to excellence in scholarship and teaching.

The coming school year signals an important time in the history of Chicago-Kent. We have created an environment for the study of law that is a model for law schools throughout the country. We have built a faculty of nationally respected teachers and researchers. We have offered an intensive, innovative program with training in all aspects of the law. What we have not yet done is establish a soul for the new Chicago-Kent, a direction that will carry us forward to even greater heights.

I challenge all of you to find our (your) soul. What should Chicago-Kent and its students make of themselves? As you ponder that question (and its cosmic implications) let me offer a few of my thoughts.

* * * Service Part I--The law school must direct itself to providing even better service to all who use its services. Students must receive first-rate service from all parts of the community--faculty, library, and other staff. However, in return, students must devote themselves to their studies and scholarship to become the best lawyers and leaders that they can become.

* * * Service Part II--The law school is a part of a greater community. It owes to that community service in time and money. Faculty and staff will give back to the community our legal talents, our facilities, and our time. Students ought to return something to the community as well, whether as participants in pro bono legal services or volunteers in civic organizations or as resources for their classmates.

* * * Innovation, drive, and dedication--Chicago-Kent is made up of talented students, faculty, and staff. It is easy for those with talent to do no more than rely on native ability and coast toward eventual success. That would be a waste. Each of us can work harder, learn more, and aim higher; each of us must do so. The quest for excellence and the ability to risk failure will allow us to achieve our goals and help to make the world in which we live a much better place.

Whew!

Onward ye many and varied members of the Chicago-Kent community. Welcome new students and faculty, welcome back continuing students and faculty, enjoy, be in touch.

FROM SBA PRESIDENT KWAME RAOUL

Greetings to everybody!

Yes it has come. The end of summer. For those of us that remained in Chicago for the last three months the summer never came except for a couple of days last week. Nonetheless it is time to return to the grind of law school.

Let me guess how you all spent your summers.

One Ls: Half of you spent your summer having the time of your life for fear that you would not have a life this fall. The other half of you after getting advice on what you can do to prepare for law school from friends that have attended law school, spent your summer realizing how useless all the advice was, and how you should have spent your summer having the time of your life. Well both halves now become one because all of you have to now give your lives to Chicago-Kent.

It's not that bad. As a matter of fact, you people have great timing. You are about to benefit from the many recent changes that Chicago-Kent has made to make itself a top notch law school. But wait a second, don't just sit there and reap all the benefits. Somebody must have told you that the first year of law school is going to take a lot out of you. I have a suggestion. Make it easy. Instead of worrying about how much law school is going to take out of you, be prepared to give of yourself to law school. Yes I know, you are already giving $15,000 dollars in tuition. However, to really benefit from your tuition dollar you have to give up something more, time. Your relationship with the law school is a symmetrical one. You are fortunate to have been selected by the law school, and the law school is fortunate that you selected to attend. The symmetry does not end there. You will only get as much out of your education as you contribute to it. Yes you will benefit from the progress that Chicago-Kent has made in recent years, but you will also contribute to the future progress of Chicago-Kent.

Two Ls: Many of you spent your summer finding out that the law really does have some practical application. You spent your summers struggling with researching issues and drafting legal memoranda, so that somebody else could sign the bottom of the last page and take credit for all of the work. Well, I know you are glad to be back so that you can come one step closer to having the privilege of getting credit for your own work or for somebody else's work.

This is the moment for which you have been impatiently waiting. You now get the opportunity to be the expert on "How to succeed in your first year of law school." I know many of you cannot wait until the 1st One L does something totally wrong in your presence or she or he asks you what is a stupid question this year but wasn't last year when you asked it. I know you cannot wait to respond by revealing pearls of wisdom to the helpless 1st years in some self satisfying manner. Well, I have a great suggestion as to how to share your expertise, become a mentor to a first year students. I know most of you could not find a stamp to return the mentor program forms that were sent to you, but it is not too late to become a mentor. Contact Julie Keywell (JKEYWELL), Daniel Blake (DBLAKE) or me (KRAOUL) if you are interested.

No, I'm not through with you 2Ls yet. Second year marks another special time for you. This is the year you become leaders in all of the student organizations. I hope you will join me in trying to heighten the role the student organizations play in improving upon the educational experience at Chicago-Kent.

Evening Students: You spent your summers working as hard as you did during the regular year. Yeah I know, summer is something only a day student gets.

Well, I know many of you did not get much of a break at all, if any, but I am also going to ask you to make a contribution to the law school this year. I want you to help me help you. I know that in past years evening students have received secondary attention, but I want you to help me to bridge the gap between day and evening students. Student life this year will not die after four o' clock.

Three Ls: You spent your summers just like I did. Worrying about what the job market will look like for the upcoming year.

Well, I know that the saying goes, "Third year they bore you to death." But please, don't die yet. You have a full year left. Contrary to belief, there is much yet to learn and more importantly much yet to give. Lets not stop being students until our last final.

So what did the Student Government do this summer. We met a couple of times and decided that we were going to be a different SBA this year. We decided that we would have an approved budget at the beginning of each semester instead of the middle of the semester. We decided that we were going to play a bigger role in the educational life at Chicago-Kent by co-sponsoring more speakers events with student organizations. We decided that we were going to make more use of our new building by hosting most of our social functions on campus rather than at off site establishments. We decided that it was our duty as a student government to make sure that the faculty, administration and staff are responsive to us, so we set up committees to evaluate, monitor and improve upon our relationship with them. (i.e., we will be distributing our own teacher evaluation forms at the end of each semester and compiling the information ourselves). We decided that I will have office hours to ensure that you have accessibility to me.

On a lighter note, we decided that the Annual SBA Picnic will be Sunday, August 23, from 1-5 p.m.. Immediately followed by a Happy Hour at Kronies on Clybourn.

And, I've decide that this is enough for now. We'll see you Sunday.

Kwame Raoul

Student Bar Association

FACULTY NEWS

Professor Fred Abbott lectured at the Public Finance Training Institute in Taipei, Taiwan in June. The Institute provides advanced training for Taiwan government officials. His lecture series concerned the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade as well as international intellectual property rights protection. Also in June, Professor Abbott addressed the Fair Trade Center and the Japanese Institute for International Business Law in Tokyo, Japan. His talks concerned the implications of the North American Free Trade Area for Japan. The Fair Trade Center is Japan's leading industry association concerned with trade issues. The audience at the Center included representatives from more than 60 Japanese companies as well as representatives of the Ministry of International Trade and Industry. He also presented a paper on the NAFTA to a faculty-student seminar at the University of Tokyo. In July, Professor Abbott addressed a meeting group at the American Association of Law Librarians annual meeting in San Francisco on the international system for the protection of intellectual property.

Professor Ralph Brill participated in the bi-annual Conference of the Legal Writing Institute at the University of Puget Sound from July 30-August 3. At the Annual Meeting of the American Bar Association, San Francisco, August 6-11, Prof. Brill chaired, moderated and spoke on a program on persuasive writing, presented by the section on Legal Education and Admission to the Bar, the Legal Writing committee and the Committee on Lawyer Competency. Among those attending the program on persuasive writing was Justice Anthony Kennedy of the U.S. Supreme Court; at the end of the session, Justice Kennedy was invited to and did offer some remarks of his own on what he likes to see in appellate briefs.

Professor James Lindgren returned from stints as a Visiting Scholar at Northwestern and the University of Chicago last term to take on new duties this fall as Associate Dean for Faculty Development. He said, "It's a new position. I guess I'll have to figure out something to do with it." When pressed, he admitted that his portfolio is the development of the faculty as scholars and teachers.

Professor Steven Heyman's comment, Natural Rights, Positivism and the Ninth Amendment, was published in the Winter 1992 issue of the Southern Illinois University Law Journal. The comment was based on Professor Heyman's participation in a symposium on the historical meaning of the Bill of Rights held to mark the bicentennial of document.

Professor Philip Hablutzel was appointed in June as the Vice-Chair of the Illinois State Bar Association Section Council for Commercial, Banking and Bankruptcy Law. He will have responsibility for the Section's Continuing Legal Education programs for the 1992-1993 year.

Professor Anita Bernstein presented a paper, "Product Dynamism and the Law," at an interdisciplinary conference on materialism, held at Queens University in Kingston, Ontario, on June 27. The paper will be published in the proceedings of the conference and in a scholarly journal. Her essay on the importance of comparative products liability law is forthcoming in the Journal of Products Liability. Professor Bernstein completed work on two new articles on the sociology and political theory of products liability. She will be a Fulbright scholar and a Jean Monnet Fellow at the European University institute in Florence, Italy during the 1992-93 academic year.

Professor Fred Bosselman participated in a Section of Urban, State and Local Government Law Panel on regulatory takings at the American Bar Association annual meeting in San Francisco on Aug. 10. The panel discussion concerned the impact of this spring's Supreme Court decision Lucas v. South Carolina Coastal Council where the court found that South Carolina had not sufficiently proven its case that the building Lucas proposed for his beachfront property constituted a "public nuisance." If the construction did constitute a public nuisance the state would be able to avoid paying Lucas compensation for depriving him from the right to build on the land under the state's coastal protection regulations. Prof. Bosselman is renowned nationwide for his familiarity with property "taking" issues.

Professor Gary Laser, director of clinical education at Chicago-Kent, and Dean Richard Matasar hosted an alumni reception at the ABA Annual meeting in San Francisco Aug. 10. The topic of the reception was the Report of American Bar Association Task Force on Law Schools and the Profession which was presented at the conference on Sunday. The reception highlighted Chicago-Kent's efforts in professional development.

STUDENT NEWS

Tracey Treger, class of 1993, placed an article in the Whittier Law Review. The paper is about the reasonable woman standard in Title VII cases. The paper originally was a case comment written for Professors Molly Lien and Anita Bernstein. Working with both professors, Ms. Treger shaped the comment into an article which eventually gained acceptance by the law review.

If you have any questions about the Entrance Interview, please contact the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid (suite 230 or call (312) 906-5180).

Library News

The library's transition to the new building is almost completed. A fourth computer area has been set up with 12 computers in the southeast corner of the ninth floor of the library. This is the area that was used as a temporary computer classroom during exams last year and will now be used on a regular basis to provide additional computer work space. Computers are also springing up in other areas. Additionally, the library has many connections where laptop computers may be plugged in.

Last year's experience showed that there were many abuses of LEXIS and WESTLAW printing. Feedback from the law firms tells us that recent graduates have little idea of the economics of performing legal research and practicing law. For this reason, students will be charged 5 cents a page (far less than the actual cost) for printing LEXIS and WESTLAW search results. For your convenience, the research results will print out in the Document Center. Remember that the Document Center hours are somewhat shorter than library hours, so don't wait until the last minute to print out. You can still download your search results to a disk. This change is intended to encourage everyone to become more efficient at computer legal research. Remember, LEXIS and WESTLAW will not be free in your practice upon graduation.

Some housekeeping details: Bring your student ID to the library. You will need it to check out books and to use reserve materials. Conference rooms are available for group study and Chicago-Kent students may reserve one hour per student per week; anyone may use an unreserved room. For your convenience, the library will provide one stapler in each copy room at the beginning of the semester; beyond that, it's up to you.

The library hours are posted just inside the front door. The computer classrooms will be closed fifteen minutes prior to closing the rest of the library. Do not wait until it's too late to print a document. Otherwise, you may have to wait until the following morning to retrieve it. One option is always to route your document to the Document Center on the 9th floor and you can pick it up the following morning.

Finally, everyone is reminded of the policy that food and drinks are not allowed in the library, including conference rooms and computer classrooms. If you have food or drink with you that you plan to use later or cups to recycle, please store them in your locker. The policy is enforced by the library staff and offenders may expect to have their names turned in for disciplinary action. The librarians have heard most excuses by now, so please don't plan to talk your way out of a food and drink situation. Arguing that your juice bottle or cola can is empty and therefore you did not violate the rule is a red-face argument that does not meet the standards of advocacy we expect from Chicago-Kent students.

Just as a reminder: the Chicago-Kent Honor Code is in effect in the library as it is throughout the rest of the school. Please show an appropriate level of courtesy to your surroundings and your colleagues in everything you do in the library and we are confident it will be reciprocated.

Welcome Back to Chicago-Kent!

It's great to have you back for the fall semester! We're looking forward to working with you this year.

The best way to keep up with the Career Services Office and our activities is by reading the Record every week. We use the Record to announce programs, job fairs, fellowships, and all of our activities. Sometimes we are given short notice concerning particular events and/or deadlines and we can only notify you about them in a single issue of the Record--so read each issue thoroughly.

Be sure to read your e-mail. E-mail and the Record are our two official means of communication with you. Check your e-mail frequently--at least once a day during the fall interview season!

Counseling Appointments

Second and third year students who need resume counseling or job search counseling should make an appointment by stopping by the reception desk in the Career Services Office or calling 312/906-5200.

If you need resume counseling to prepare for the Fall On-Campus Interview program, be sure to schedule your appointment right away. The last day of resume counseling for the Fall On-Campus Interview Program is Friday, August 28th.

Three part-time counseling consultants have recently joined the Career Services staff: Carolyn Gunn, Barbara Rakely and Deborah Villa. Carolyn, Barbara and Deborah bring excellent career counseling and career development skills to Chicago-Kent.

You may schedule an appointment with any of these consultants or with Lisa Abrams or Judith Saunders. The Career Services Office receptionist, Gwen Johnson, will assist you in making an appointment with a counselor who best suits your needs.

Mock Interviews

One of the best ways to prepare for the interviewing season is by participating in a mock interview session. Counseling consultant Debbie Gutman will be visiting several Chicago law schools, including Chicago-Kent, to conduct mock interview sessions this fall.

The half hour appointments will include a videotaped mock interview, playback of the videotape, and a critique of the interview.

Appointments for Wednesday, August 19th, are still available! Other dates for mock interview appointments are Wednesday, Sept. 2; Thursday, Sept. 3; Wednesday, Sept. 9; Thurs., Sept. 10; and Friday, Sept. 11. Mock interviews will be conducted in the Career Services Office.

There are a limited number of mock interviews available; sign up soon! Note: You must submit a resume at the time you make your appointment. No-shows and cancellation less than 24 hours in advance of the session will be charged a $15.00 fee.

Fall Interview Program

The Fall On-Campus Interview Program is open to students graduating in 1993 and 1994 and to LL.M. candidates. An informational packet, with an explanation of procedures, the names of participating employers, and student registration materials is now available in the Career Services Office.

Even if you participated in fall interviewing last year, it is extremely important that you read the informational packet carefully and attend the mandatory program on August 25th. Procedures are entirely new this year due to the implementation of a computerized scheduling system. Important dates to keep in mind for the fall interview program:

August 10	Informational Packet available in the Career Services Office
August 17- August 28	Class ranks available in the Career Services Office
August 25	Mandatory Program--Ogilvie Auditorium 12:00 noon and 5:00 p.m.
August 31	Direct Contact List available in the Career Services Office
August 31	All registration materials are due in the Career Services Office at 5:00 p.m.!! REGISTRATION MATERIALS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED AFTER THIS DATE!

Mandatory Program for Participants in Fall On-Campus Interviewing

Students who plan to participate in the Fall On-Campus program must attend the mandatory program on Tuesday, August 25, in the Ogilvie Auditorium. The program will be presented at noon and at 5:00 p.m. The program will explain the procedures involved in this year's new computerized scheduling system and give you the chance to ask any questions you may have about fall interviewing.

Questions about Joint Interview Schedules in the Fall On-Campus Program

A number of students have asked questions about the application process/resume submission process for the joint schedule employers participating in the Fall On-Campus program. (The joint schedule employers have a "*" before their name on the employer master listing.) Some joint employers simply require the submission of a resume with your resume packet. Others require that various application materials be submitted directly to them. Still others require that the application materials be submitted to Chicago-Kent's Career Services Office.

We recognize this is confusing! Detailed information regarding the application process/resume submission process will be provided at the mandatory program for participants in the fall interview program.

Fall Interview Participants: Check the Bulletin Board Outside the Career Services Office and Read Your E-Mail Daily!

Information concerning any additional employers who register to interview students through the On-Campus program will be posted on the Bulletin Boards outside the Career Services Office. The bulletin board will also keep you informed of changes in interview schedules, employer cancellations, etc.

If we need to communicate directly with you, we will be doing so through e-mail. We will not be phoning you or leaving a note on your locker.

COMPUTER RESOURCES

Welcome back from the Center for Law and Computers!

A few changes have been made in the computing environment over the summer months. Below are the highlights -- look for additional information in The Record, The Law Student's PC and the HELPDOCS in Lab 700.

E-Mail Stations

We all know that E-Mail (electronic mail) is a popular and expedient way to exchange information at Kent. Now, dedicated e-mail stations are located in the Spakateria (3rd floor cafeteria), on the 2nd floor adjacent to the locker area, and on the Concourse beneath the clock. From these computers you can read and send e-mail to users on Kentnet and Profnet. These computers also allow you to read and submit Kent Classifieds, and view class assignments and general interest bulletins. Semester grades are also available from these stations. No other Kentnet features can be accessed through these computers.

9th Floor Computer Concentration

West Publishing Company, suppliers of WESTLAW, have provided Chicago-Kent with 16 IBM-compatible computers (called WALT PCs) for student access to Kentnet. Twelve are located on the 9th floor in the southeast quadrant, the other four are located near the Library elevator: two on the 6th floor, one on the 7th floor and one on the 9th floor.

LEXIS and WESTLAW Printing

Lexis and Westlaw printing is moving from the individual labs to a central location: the 9th floor Document Center. The move will be completed within the next two weeks. During the transition, only Lab 700 will have Lexis and Westlaw printing. HELPDOCs will be available soon which cover the entire new printing environment. Watch for additional announcements in The Record, and The Law Student's PC.

WINDOWS for Students

All of the computers in Lab 700 and Lab 775, the WALT PCs and the 55sx machines in Lab 760 have been upgraded to support WINDOWS and WINDOWS applications. Coming soon to the Kentnet Menu will be an Exit to WINDOWS option which will allow you to run WordPerfect for Windows, Legal-eze and several other WINDOWS-based applications.

And watch for our first new issue in September!!

Kent Justice Foundation

The Kent Justice Foundation (KJF) was organized, and will soon be incorporated, in order to raise funds for and administer summer public interest law fellowships for Chicago-Kent students. A fellowship from KJF promotes choice for recipients, as they can decide to work in a low-paying or volunteer public interest position, gaining invaluable legal experience and contacts in the public interest and human services area, without as much concern for their foregoing more financially rewarding summer employment with a firm.

Watch for our organizational meeting in an upcoming Record, and please give generously at the KJF Coffee Can in the Spakateria. E-mail GBELL or JRUNK for more information.

National Lawyers Guild

The National Lawyers Guild will sponsor a forum on public education in Chicago on October 17. Anyone interested in helping to plan, organize and staff this event please e-mail JMARSH.

Students United for the Public Interest

Students United for the Public Interest (SUPI) involves what the name implies -- a group of students at Chicago-Kent who have a common interest in finding a means to practice law through which they can help to build a more just society. Many alternative paths lie beneath the umbrella of what is known as "public interest law."

It is the purpose of SUPI to broaden and promote the opportunities for individuals to work in the public interest, both while students at Chicago-Kent and later as attorneys. We wish to organize and implement projects and programs that will assist students in taking control over the paths they take as law students and lawyers, not to be passively "placed" by the workings of the market and established attitudes, but rather to choose an alternative practice or field, or find a place in an otherwise traditional practice, which furthers the provision of legal services to all members of our society. Chicago-Kent has a tradition of producing lawyers that make these choices. The members of SUPI do not wish to see this tradition pass under the strains of law school and practice in the 1990s.

Watch for an announcement of our organizational meeting in an upcoming Record. If you would like to talk to someone about SUPI, e-mail GBELL.

Women In Law

Women in Law welcomes everyone to a new semester at Kent. Women in Law will be having an organizational and welcome back meeting the first full week of classes. Please watch for the time and place in future Record notices and on the Women in Law bulletin board on the concourse. If you want to contact someone in Women in Law before our first meeting, e-mail Darcy Bielema [DBIELEMA] or Anna Notation [ANOTATIO].

SALE OF THE SEMESTER!!!!

Admit it. You are curious as to how the "other half," the faculty, lives -- now here's your chance. Paw through the "personal effects" of one of Kent's favorite Torts and Justice professors.

ANITA BERNSTEIN

Select an item, purchase it. What an opportunity! She doesn't need the stuff -- she's going to Italy to compare torts!

Professor Bernstein has graciously allowed her PRIVATE EFFECTS to be sold, including a fascinating selection of books, furniture, records, CDs and assorted detritus accumulated in the pursuit of legal scholarship. What better way to start out that new apartment, or to add to an existing space, than with an item you can say was "once the property of Professor Bernstein."

Professor Bernstein has allowed us to offer these items to YOU the CHICAGO-KENT LAW SCHOOL community -- with all the filthy lucre ($) to go to the KENT JUSTICE FOUNDATION to assist in funding public interest fellowships next summer.

Come by August 19th to Anita's ex-place, which is located at 1710 School St. in Chicago. The sale starts at 2:00 p.m., so come one Ls, come all, and get in on the DEALS, DEALS, DEALS!!!!
